

UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA

DEPARTMENT OF
SPANISH & PORTUGUESE
STUDIES

Magnus Halnes (Creative Commons License)

¡Te sacaré de aquí, abuelo!

Decades ago in Spain, General Francisco Franco ordered thousands of bodies to be buried within the monumental Valle de los Caídos (Valley of the Fallen), now a controversial symbol of his regime and the violence inflicted upon the nation during the years of the civil war and post-war era.

In I'll get you out of here, Abuelo!, directors Montse Armengou and Ricard Belis guide us through the struggle of Joan Pinyol, the grandson of a Republican soldier whose body had been unknowingly removed from his grave and transported to the Valle de los Caídos site. The film follows Pinyol's efforts to reclaim the body, unearthing the many obstacles still faced in the public realm of political memory in Spain.

Film Screening, discussion and Q&A with Montse Armengou (Spring 2017 King Juan Carlos I of Spain Chair in Spanish Culture and Civilization, NYU)

FRIDAY MARCH 31
NOLTE 20 6:30PM

DEPARTMENT OF SPANISH AND PORTUGUESE
4TH ANNUAL GRADUATE CONFERENCE
SHIFTING LANDSCAPES

PRESENTED BY: Department of Spanish and Portuguese / Center for Early Modern History / Coke Department of French and Italian / CARLA/ Department of Sociology / Department of History / Department of Curriculum and Instruction / Center for Holocaust & Genocide Studies / Interdisciplinary Center for the Study of Global Change

Sponsors:

Student Unions & Activities

GRANTS
INITIATIVES